New Orleans, LA – May 19, 2017 – This week, the Dollar General Literacy Foundation awarded the Youth Empowerment Project (YEP) a $10,000 grant to support YEP’s New Orleans Providing Literacy to All Youth (NOPLAY) program. This local grant award is part of more than $7.5 million in grants awarded to nearly 900 schools, nonprofits and organizations across the 44 states that Dollar General serves.

“YEP applauds Dollar General’s leadership in addressing the critical issue of adult literacy in the United States and we are grateful for the foundation’s continued investment in the adult education programming we provide to adult learners in New Orleans, LA through our New Orleans Providing Literacy to All Youth (NOPLAY) program,” said YEP Executive Director & Cofounder Melissa Sawyer.

The Youth Empowerment Project applied for a grant from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation to help support NOPLAY’s adult education and high school equivalency program. In 2016, YEP’s NOPLAY program served approximately 600 young adult learners and 37 individuals were also able to earn their HiSETs (formerly GED) in the New Orleans area.

“Dollar General is excited to provide these organizations with funding to support literacy and education throughout the 44 states we serve,” said Todd Vasos, Dollar General’s CEO. “Providing these grants and supporting the communities we call home reflects our mission of Serving Others and it’s rewarding to see the impact these funds have.”
